HYACINTHS.

Directions for Culture.

The Hyacinth is one of the most beautiful and fragrant of the Bulbous Flowers, and is particularly desirable for either garden, pot, or glass culture. The preferable season for planting Hyacinths in the garden is in October and November; but they can be set out at any time, as long as the ground is open and the bulbs sound. They will grow in almost any light, sandy soil; but when the highest cultivation is aimed at, they should be planted in a mixture composed of one-third river or sea sand, one-third well-rotted cow manure, and one-third good garden mold. The beds composed of the above compost should be well dug. Bulbs should be planted about four inches deep, and from six to eight inches apart.

For the culture of Hyacinths in pots prepare the above compost. On the size of the pot depends the number of Bulbs which may be planted in a single one; three or four bulbs in a pot of six or seven inches in diameter has a rich and massive effect; one or two Bulbs may be planted in proportionately smaller pots; two Bulbs of different colors are very effective and generally preferred. In potting, each Bulb should remain two thirds above the surface of the soil; when thus planted, water them well to imbed the Bulbs firmly within the soil, allowing them to remain in this condition for three or four days; then bury the pots in open ground to the depth of six inches, for six weeks. After the period adverted to, take up the pots and remove them to a moderately warm room, care being taken to screen the leaf growth for a few days after being disembedded. They will need occasional watering.

For culture in glasses, the Bulbs should be so placed that only the base of each touch the water; then place them for the first ten days in a dark closet or room, to promote the starting of the roots, after which expose them to the light and air. A small piece of charcoal dropped into the glass will keep the water pure, but the loss of water by evaporation should be restored from time to time.

HYACINTHS

ROMAN HYACINTHS.

This beautiful and very valuable variety, if planted in October and gently forced, will bloom in December, or flowering may be retarded until Christmas by keeping in a cool place. The flowers, which are smaller than those of the ordinary hyacinth, are produced in great profusion, each bulb throwing up three or four spikes of delicately scented, clear white blossoms, highly recommended for parlor decoration.

TUBEROSES.

A beautiful, white, wax-like, very sweet-scented double flower, growing on long stems, 2 to 2½ feet in height, each stem having many flowers. This is one of the most highly prized of florists' flowers, and the single florets are generally sold at from 25 to 50 cents per dozen. By planting as soon as the soil is warm, and at intervals thereafter, a succession of bloom may be had throughout the season. They may be as successfully grown in pots as in the garden. A single floret, tied on a stem and placed in the center of a bouquet, will impart a delightful fragrance. The real worth of the flower is becoming, on this Coast, better known from year to year, and the demand for it is largely on the increase. The original bulb will not flower the second time, but the small bulbs or offsets may be saved in a dry, warm place and planted again for future flowering. It will take two or three years' culture to produce flowering bulbs.

SPANISH IRIS.

These grand old-fashioned flowers, neglected for some years, are now becoming very popular. They are surprisingly beautiful, and for cut flowers are invaluable. An almost continuous succession of bloom may be kept up by planting the following bulbous varieties. They come into flower early, in the order here named. We make prices very low.

Spanish Iris—The earliest bloomer of all the Irises, and particularly recommended for culture in pots or in the open ground, as they are perfectly hardy. For pot culture, use 5 or 6 bulbs to a 5-inch pot. Plant them abundantly in the garden. They will make a grand show.
